FORMER DAIRY

Like Berlin itself, the history of the Spreebogen is unique.

The building from 1890, directly on the banks of the river, was officially opened by the last German Empress and was once a dairy, a milk processing factory. The entire city of Berlin and the surrounding area was supplied with milk and dairy products from this location.

Today, exciting contrasts meet up here, old and new merge into an exciting and contemporary industrial-style design, telling the story of the past.

EVENT LOCATION

The delightful charm of the historic architecture will inspire you and your guests and provide you with unforgettable moments.

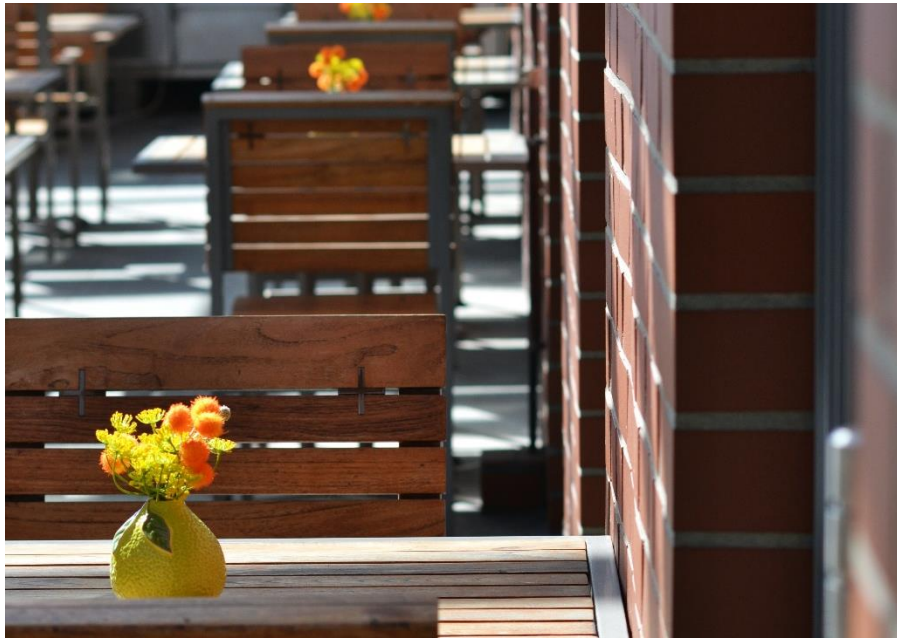

Enjoy the unique location directly by the River Spree with large windows, marvellous daylight and a terrace including a historic ambience in a historically protected atmosphere. Our dedicated and professional team will look after you individually.
